Supporting members may be:

- Wage earners in Finland in the contract and industry sectors represented by the Industrial Union who are not covered by Finnish unemployment security or social security
- Members of another trade union working in multiple industry sectors, including contract and industry sectors represented by the Industrial Union

Persons who are entrepreneurs cannot join the Industrial Union's unemployment fund. By contrast, a person employed in a business owned by their family member who does not themselves own any part of that business may join an employees' unemployment fund. As of 1 July 2019, simply being employed in a business owned by a family member is not considered entrepreneurship.

According to the Unemployment Security Act, a person is considered an entrepreneur if he/she:

- is liable for YEL or MYEL insurance,
- owns at least 15% of the company's shares and is employed in a leading position in that company,
- owns, together with their family, at least 30% of the company's shares and is employed in a leading position in that company, or
- owns, by themselves or together with their family, at least 50% of the company's shares, and is employed by the company.

If you are a family member of an entrepreneur but do not own any part of the business, you may join an employees' unemployment fund.

Family members include a spouse (or partner) living in the same household, their own children and their parents.

A leading position is one held by e.g. the CEO, the Chairman of the Board of Directors or a member of the Board of Directors.

If you are considered an entrepreneur in terms of unemployment security, you are not entitled to daily allowance from an employees' unemployment fund.
